

[REDACTED] him

If you wanna speak... Let's do it... Give me a hint as to when you've completed your phone call...
Otherwise... Maybe when I get to NYC ???

[REDACTED] Slim

Just confirmed that that cover letter is completely private and has nothing to do with any public record. (And only included the domestic violence/ restraining order stuff because I called the lawyer when the cops were here and I didn't know what to do or why that happened and was scared)

But that letter is private.

And unless you file as well (which I guess opens us up to the press possibly catching it, as they have seemingly missed this one, at least for right now), then it can be revoked anytime. If you file separately as well, it's the same thing as far as being revoked is concerned but requires both our signatures and is a new filed public doc. for the records ? At least that's my understanding of it.

Oh, and I confirmed with my lawyer, the 'quickly' part etc you mentioned in letter between our lawyers (including the 'deadline' for a response from them, wasn't something I said, asked for, even noticed, and is not mandatory at all)..

We can take as long or quick as we want. And do this or undue this as we see fit. You and I have the control. And love each other.

I thought you filed. You said you were going to and said goodbye. I'm sorry if I've hurt you. I have nothing but love for you.
